To Whom It May Concern,

I have known Les Voros for a number of years. We both worked in the same industry, but for competing companies. Being in the same industry, I got to know Les quite well.

Several years ago when Les decided to make a career change into the financial planning industry, I knew that I could trust him with my financial needs. Since 2007 he has been responsibly looking after my family's life insurance policies and RRSP savings plans. He has also reviewed my RESP education plan for my children. Les showed me the various differences and choices available to me, and I know that his recommendations are the best for me and my family.

Les will continue to be my advisor of choice as I know his values are based on honesty and integrity and so are his team members. I certainly have no hesitation in recommending him to anyone who needs help with financial planning.

Sincerely,

Parminder Sahota
